

Environmental Policy

The Stemar Group Pty Ltd is committed to the principles of sustainable development and environmental stewardship – the value of balancing our responsibility to meet today's building needs of our customers with the environmental, social and economic needs of our people, communities and other stakeholders.

We will:

- Comply with applicable environmental, social and heritage laws and regulations.
- Adopt a systematic approach to managing the environmental impact of our operations.
- Develop continuous improvement plans, set goals and track progress of our environmental performance.
- Report the environmental performance of our business and inform and consult with our employees and clients on significant environmental matters relevant to the Stemar Groups activities.
- Educate our people about environmental concerns and responsibilities and provide our people and contractors with the training and resources necessary to meet our environmental commitments.
- Promote energy and resource efficiency in our operations as well as amongst our customers.
- Share knowledge of environmental issues and management practices with industry and communities.
- Establish additional environmental policies and practices to address particular environmental issues that are important to the responsible conduct of our business.
